Headline: Duplin Kid Rises From The Dead

It had been so long since anybody had seen or heard from the Duplin Kid that it didn't surprize anybody to hear that he'd been killed in a gunfight over a card game in Rotten Crotch Arizona. What did surprize the posse was what we heard had happened after he had been somewhat laid to rest. Supposedly the story went something like this.....Duplin was playing 5 card stud with five members of the "Princess Steet Gang" (A bunch of lawyers that had taken up gambling). One of the more surly members of the gang called "Slow Hand" was obviously dealing from the bottom of the deck and Duplin showed his displeasure with the hand he was dealt by sticking Slow Hands good hand to the table with a dagger. Duplin was immediately shot at least once by each of the other gang members at the table. The time is now two days later and the "Princess Street Gang" is back playing cards and taking advantage of another unknowing passerby. Duplin's bloody body is displayed in a casket leaning over in the corner. Did i forget to mention that there had been an unusual comet and meteor shower in the sky that night??? You know, sort of like in that movie "The Night Of The Living Dead". The gang was having such a time cheating the passerby at cards that they didn't notice that Duplin was turning an unusual color of white and his eyes were sinking back into his head that made dark looking holes. Duplin made a loud groan that scared the sh*t out of everybody that heard it and everybody went for their guns. The gang had violated Rule #1.....Don't leave corpses laying around still wearing their guns. Duplin fired five shots while laying in the coffin and got five headshots. He then staggered out of the coffin (sort of like Frankenstein) got more guns and polished off everybody in the bar. He then ate all the bodies. Or at least that's the way we heard it.....

Well we did shoot one more stage from the coffin..i promise it's the last one, as the coffin is ready for the scrapyard. I wasn't there (had to go to mother in laws birthday party--what a hoot) but i got the scores from Ragtime Kid and he attests to their accuracy. Scores went like this:
